Improvements Abound on the Waterman Village Campus

Work continues on the Bridgewater Assisted Living Residence exterior remodeling project, following the interior remodel that was completed in 2016. Check with us first when you or your loved one is in need of an assisted living apartment because the Bridgewater is available to adults who don't currently reside on the Waterman Village campus (as space is available). Our resident care, culinary services and activity environment are hard to beat, according to those who have shopped for an assisted living residence and chosen Waterman Village.

In our residential living neighborhood, work will soon begin on two new Estate duplex homes. Both will become home to new residents - one couple moving from Virginia and another couple from California. We look forward to their becoming active members of the Waterman Village family.

Give us a call to schedule a visit and discover what makes Waterman Village unique!

Lights, Camera, Action!

Two of our new residential living residents recently moved to Waterman Village from Texas. They chose to move to Waterman Village and Mount Dora, even though they have no family in the area. Both worked in Hollywood, California, as film director/producer and movie set builder. They are currently working with some film students from the University of Central Florida (above) to complete a video about life on the Waterman Village campus.

Membership has its benefits!

Even if you're not ready to move to residential living at Waterman Village for a few years, we encourage you to plan ahead and place your name on our residential living wait list called the "In The Wings" club. As a member you will have access to special offers and events, including...

- ✓ Use the Waterman Village Fitness Center (left)
